Volunteering

You can help preserve the historic heritage of Mountains of the South Cumberland Plateau.

Volunteer opportunities are plentiful – just a few of the possible ways volunteers can assist the Mountain Heritage Preservation Society are listed below.

- Offer tours of the Mountain and the local Parks, South Cumberland State Parks and its outdoor exhibits to visitors daily and during special events such as Mountaineer Days Festival.
- Volunteers assist the Mountain Heritage Preservation Society staff in providing educational programs to community groups and local schools – school programs are conducted both in the classroom and at the Heritage Center.
- Volunteers assist the Mountain Heritage Preservation Society staff helping clean, catalogue, research, and preserve the collection of artifacts held by the Society.
- Volunteers are invited to work with Society staff on many research, restoration, and interpretive projects discovering and documenting the wonderful history of the region.
